

The Third NAREM Seasonal School

Renewable Energy and Development Summer School

Time: 21 – 28 August, 2017

Place: Center for Near and Middle Eastern Studies (CNMS), Deutschhastr. 12, 35032 Marburg, Germany

Program: Lectures and seminars related to the topics political economy of natural resource management, renewable energy and development studies (economic and social)

Participants: Students, Professors and other academics from Philipps-Universität Marburg, Tarbiat Modares University, University of Tehran, and Ferdowsi University of Mashhad

Aims: Networking, improvement of intercultural competences, and building up specialized knowledge

Keynote Speakers:

Prof. Dr. Michael Düren

Professor for Experimental Physics at the Justus Liebig University Giessen

Prof. Dr. Georgeta Auktor

Professor for Economy and Society of the Middle East at FAU Erlangen-Nürnberg & German Development Institute, Bonn

Dr. Sebastian Voigt

Deputy at Department of Environmental and Resource Economics, Environmental Management, ZEW Mannheim

Further Information:

www.uni-marburg.de/narem narem@uni-marburg.de

Sponsored by:

DAAD

Higher Education Dialogue with the Muslim World

Auswärtiges Amt