Pixun

Digital displays emit light with unnatural spectral composition and flicker. This causes strain on the eyes and nervous system, leading to various health problems and lower task efficiency. Existing products only offer partial mitigation - Pixun, for the first time, eliminates the very source of these issues.

Facts:

- most people are affected by computer vision syndrome (CVS)
- causes are eliminated by use of a natural light source
- our technology offers relief from CVS without compromising usability
