

1. March.

This image shows a handwritten musical score for a march, titled "1. March." and composed by "Conc. Meist. Wolf." The score is written on aged, yellowed paper and consists of 12 systems of staves. Each system typically contains two staves, likely representing a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The music is written in a common time signature (C) and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The notation includes various note values, rests, and dynamic markings. The paper shows signs of age, including foxing and some staining, particularly in the middle section. The handwriting is clear and legible, characteristic of 18th or 19th-century manuscript notation.

2. Men: Altern

The first system of the handwritten musical score consists of two staves. The top staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a 4/4 time signature. It contains several measures of music, including a prominent sixteenth-note run. The bottom staff uses a bass clef and contains corresponding bass-line notation. There are various annotations such as '3' and '4' above notes, and some notes are marked with a '2' below them. The paper shows signs of age and wear.

The second system of the handwritten musical score also consists of two staves. The top staff is marked with 'Trio.' in the first measure, indicating a change in instrumentation or texture. It features a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a 4/4 time signature. The notation includes a variety of note values and rests. The bottom staff continues the bass-line. There are several dynamic markings and articulation symbols throughout the system.

The third system of the handwritten musical score consists of two staves. The top staff has a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp. The notation includes a mix of note values and rests. The bottom staff has a bass clef. The system concludes with the handwritten text 'Men Darapo' followed by a double bar line and some scribbles. Below this system, there are several empty musical staves.