This is a sample timetable, which means that for quite a few of the courses there are alternative times (parallel groups). The following classes are courses you should take in the first semester:

VL + UE Introduction to the Study of English Literatures and Cultures (Only offered in the winter semester and prerequisite for more advanced modules) This lecture is asynchronous so you will be able to do the work at a time during the week that suits you.

VL/UE Introduction to Linguistics B.A.) + UE/TU Linguistics (Introduction) (Only offered in the winter semester and pre-requisite for more advanced modules)

PS Introduction to Cultural Studies + UE Academic Skills (Only offered in the winter and a prerequisite for more advanced modules)

UE General Writing 1 OR UE Applied Grammar I (from the module Language in Use 1)

These are classes you could take in your first semester but are not required to:

VL Ringvorlesung Berufsorientierung (only offered in the winter semester: you can do it this winter, or next winter). This lecture is online in real time.

Attention: There are no alternative appointments for courses in the sample timetable with bold titles!

Course selection and freshers week B.A. American, British, and Canadian Studies (Winter 25/26)

1. Timetable: Please read the annotated course catalogue carefully to get an overview of the courses listed in the sample timetable: <https://uni-marburg.de/FrDes>
2. Course selection, starts on September 18, 2025 and takes place via the online platform MARVIN (<https://www.marvin.uni-marburg.de>). A more detailed description of how to register for courses and a list of deadlines can be found on the departmental website: www.uni-marburg.de/gAxZm
3. Please note you must have paid your semester fee and have been registered as a student for at least 10 days before you can register for classes.
4. Fresher's week (orientation) begins the week starting October 6, 2025. There will be a couple of appointments dedicated to time-table planning, help with basic questions related to studying as well as opportunities to get to know each other. Please check on the offerings of the Fachschaft 10! over at www.fachschaft10.wordpress.com They also offer help with creating timetables.
5. The general introductory session for first semester students in the B.A. American, British, and Canadian Studies will take place as an online event on October 6, 2025 at 14.00 (sharp). This meeting will be held in person at WR01D05 in block D of Wilhelm-Röpke-Str. 6.

FAQs

- What do the numbers before the class titles mean. These are numbers used in MARVIN to identify the courses (Lehrveranstaltungen). They are not exam registration numbers.
- What does SWS mean? Semesterwochstunden is the time which you are required to present in class for a given course.
- Are the courses listed above sufficient to ensure that I can graduate after six semesters? Yes. Your entire course of studies has a total of 180 credits of work. You should take an average of 30 credits of work each semester. Don't overdo it in the first semester.
- What happens if I can't attend the time-tabling events? You can use the online course: ToDos im Studium: Durchstarten in Marburg <https://uni-marburg.de/2bnhLh> and make an appointment to attend office hours with your student advisor.
- Which exams do I have to take in my first semester? That information can be found in your module handbook. Usually, your course instructors will also give you an outline of what to expect in their course during the first session.
