

Factsheet Application

Master of Science in International Political Economy

Preconditions

The MSc International Political Economy is designed as an international and interdisciplinary programme, offered by the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of Marburg, for students with a Bachelor degree in Economics or Political Science (or with a major subject in both disciplines).

The University of Marburg will only accept applications from students with an undergraduate degree in Economics or a related field. Students with an undergraduate degree in political science must send their application to the University of Texas at Dallas.

At the time of application at the University of Marburg, students should have been awarded at least 72 ECTS credits in economics, business administration, or economics-related methods (e.g. mathematics, statistics), with at least 54 ECTS credits in economics. If students do not have completed their course of studies at the time of application, they have to submit a transcript of records including a preliminary grade, calculated on the basis of at least 144 ECTS credits.

A very good command of the English Language (at least level C1 in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages) is a prerequisite.

C1-Level can be proven with:

- Test of English as a foreign Language (TOEFL) Internet based (0-120 points) with a result of at least 95 points
- Test of English for International Communication (TOEIC) (10-990 points) with an result of at least 945 points
- International English Language Testing System (IELTS) with a minimum mark of 7.0 IELTS
- English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) (Cambridge University): Certificate in Advanced English (CAE)
- Academic degree in a course of studies in which the language of instruction is predominantly English.
- Certificate of the Sprachenzentrum of the University of Marburg (the test takes about 60 minutes and includes an oral examination). You can apply for the test here.
- Please also check our website.

Documents to be submitted

Note: Applications can only be accepted if they are conducted via the online application portal uni-assist.

1. The first fundamental university degree including the final grade

2. Transcript of records for determining the contents of your previous studies
3. The certificate of English skills at a C1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages by the Council of Europe
4. Personal statement, approx. two pages DIN A4 (German standard format) with 1,800 keystrokes each. In this document the applicant should argue why he/she is suitable for the programme "International Political Economy" including the criteria above.
5. Tabular curriculum vitae (about one DIN A4 page)
6. If available, additional certificates proving applicant's personal suitability for the M.Sc. International Political Economy, including the criteria above.
7. Applicants from China, Mongolia, and Vietnam must include an APS certificate (please contact your local German embassy)

Important: Documents must be submitted both in the original language and as an officially certified translation into English.

Admission process

Step 1:

Become informed about the Master's programme, e.g., by browsing through the webpage. Seriously consider your goals and then decide whether this Master's programme can help you reach them.

Step 2:

Submit a formal online application within the deadline applicable to a specific term, that is, by 15 July for the winter term and by 15 January for the summer term. Applications must be submitted online via uni-assist, an online application service for students. This is the ONLY acceptable way to submit an application. Applications are processed by uni-assist, an external service provider. The clearing may take up to six weeks.

Note that applications will be considered by the selection committee only if they are complete and include all necessary and requested documents.

Step 3:

Once uni-assist has validated your application documents and asserted that you meet all formal requirements, your suitability for admission will be determined by a selection process. Suitability will be determined by three criteria, with a maximum of 9 'suitability points' to be gained:

- Your success in earning your previous degree(s), as reflected by your marks (up to 3 points)
- Additional knowledge in economics or political science as demonstrated by advanced and final modules beyond basic requirements mentioned in the preconditions and study or internship experiences in economics abroad (up to 3 points)
- Your motivation for applying and fit to the programme, as reflected in the motivation letter as well as additional criteria such as relevant professional experience, study experiences abroad, academic letters of reference (up to 1 point)

Step 4: Telephone Interview

If your application makes it through the pre-screening process (i.e., you earned at least 5 points in Step 3), you will be contacted in the following weeks. You will be invited to a telephone interview (about 20 minutes). The interview will be conducted by a member of the selection committee, usually an economics professor. The interview typically includes questions about the candidate's knowledge, as well as the candidate's reasons for applying for the programme (up to 2 points can be earned through the interview).

An applicant is considered suitable for the programme if he or she collects a total of at least 7 points in Steps 3 and 4. Shortly after the interview, final admission decisions will be announced.

Contact in case of specific queries: ipe@wiwi.uni-marburg.de

Good luck with your application!