Creative Space – Part of the XSpaces-initiative

The XSpaces are innovative, creative and interconnected workspaces. They support new forms of academic collaboration.

Makerspace:

The Makerspace is used for teaching and research as well as for start-up promotion. Working with 3-D data and printing is possible, as well as practical work with tools to create prototypes.

email: makerspace@uni-marburg.de

Game Lab:

The Game Lab offers game consoles (PS5, Xbox, Switch) and powerful workstations (Blender, Unity, etc.) as well as a VR area (HTC Vive, Pico Neo 3), augmented reality headsets and a stationary VR treadmill to view computer and video games, virtual reality apps and serious games and evaluate them for use in research and teaching.

email: medienzentrum@ub.uni-marburg.de

Open Lab:

In the Open Lab, there is a 3D scanner and 3D printer to make 3D scans of real or illustrative objects, model figures or technical prototypes. Opportunities for collaborative digital work are also offered with the help of an interactive touch display.

email: medienzentrum@ub.uni-marburg.de

Creative Space:

The Creative Space provides young academics with a space for creative project development, meetings, workshops, etc. Attractive rooms with flexible furniture and the technical infrastructure for creative collaboration promote new forms of academic collaboration.

What is project Creative Space about?

Establishment of a creative centre for conferences, workshops, project development, network meetings, etc.

Attractive rooms with technical and analogue equipment offer every opportunity for creative collaboration.

Conceptual support through Design Thinking, Lego® Serious Play®, creative project development, advice on event formats Interdisciplinary meeting place with its own formats such as GameNight.

Never miss an event? Subscribe to the Game Night mailing list:
<https://www.lists.uni-marburg.de/lists/sympa/subscribe/gamenight>

Goals:

- Strengthening the early independence and the individual academic profile of early stage researchers
- Promotion of interdisciplinary cooperation and networking

Creative Space – Room for ideas

A place for brainstorming. A space for network meetings, dialogue and project development. A place to get something off the ground together. An event space.

Creative Space – „Club Behring“

Setting 1: Workshop / Meeting (20 Pers.)

Setting 2: Workshop / 3 „working stations“ (21 Pers.)

Setting 3: Lecture / Row Seating (35 Pers.)

Setting 4: Reception with high tables (50 Pers.)

Equipment:

- 98" monitor for presentations
- 86" Clevertouch monitor for collaborative editing of documents, as a whiteboard, for hybrid working, video conferencing
- 3 movable work walls as presentation walls, pin boards, memo boards etc.
- Moderation case
- Video conferencing system with camera and table microphones
